In the footsteps of St. Paul

One of the most important routes of religious and educational interest in Greece is the Steps of Apostle Paul. Paul, although he did not belong to the close circle of the 12 disciples of Christ, is an important figure for the Christian religion. He spread Christianity like no other and for this reason he was called an apostle and “Apostle to the Gentiles”. As part of his travels to spread Christianity, the Apostle Paul also visited Greece, preaching the Gospel and teaching the work of Jesus. The Apostle Paul’s journey to Greece is a journey that moves not only the devout believer today, but also anyone who loves history. The “Steps of the Apostle Paul” passes through all the places the Apostle taught and is an ideal combination of pilgrimage and touring some of the most beautiful places in Greece.
